Complaints against MUDA, MCC galore at GTD's Janaspandana

District Minister G.T. Devegowda responding to a petitioner at Janaspandana in city this morning. Others seen are MLAs S.A. Ramdas and L. Nagendra and Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar.

Mysuru, July 4 (RK&BCT)- Holding 'Janata Darshan' is generally a Chief Minister's prerogative and we have many CMs who are known to have solved people's problems at such 'Janata Darshans.' Our present Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy too regularly conducts such meet-the-people programmes to have a direct connect with the masses.

Probably taking a cue from Kumaraswamy from his 'Janata Darshan' and 'Village Stays' to meet people directly to solve their grievances on-the-spot, Mysuru District Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD) held a 'Janaspandana' programme this morning and according to the District Administration, it is taking the Government directly to people's doorsteps. It is GTD's first 'Janaspandana' after he became the Minister.

The much-touted programme began at 9 am today at J.K. Grounds where the entire administrative machinery including Zilla Panchayat (ZP), Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA), Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) and District Administration and Police, had pitched tents to hear the grievances of people. Over 2,000 people attended the morning session and the event is expected to continue till late in the night as people continuously flocked the Grounds with applications, hoping to get their problems solved.

MUDA is people's target: Interestingly, at the 'Janaspandana' most of the complaints were regarding MUDA and MCC and people from three Assembly Constituencies in Mysuru — Chamaraja, Narasimharaja and Krishnaraja — and Mysuru Taluk poured into the event with complaints.

Patronising Ponzi players

Given the feature of dailies virtually compelled to accommodate their column-space to reports of various kinds of criminal acts in today's society, on an unprecedented scale, one cannot but remark that living in peace nowadays is a challenge before all cross-sections of urban residents. The modus operandi of the offending types conning the gullible citizens by offering attractive returns on cash-driven investments has come to be named Ponzi deals. Old timers of the erstwhile Princely State of Mysore can recollect a similar deal by a person during 1940s who lured people to deposit their money for getting irresistible returns as interest in a short time. Legend has it that even royalty of the State and a Nobel Laureate were among his victims suffering monetary loss, apart from people with modest means hoping to grab a quick buck. The term scam, also appearing in the media and heard regularly during debates in the Legislatures nowadays, has yielded place to its modern avatar Ponzi, to describe fraudulent and deceptive acts and operations.

The land's epics and chronicles of past centuries are rich source of narratives exposing the wicked ways of humankind to satisfy ambitions driven by greed. That tendency has endured despite clarion calls by mentors of society to people for eschewing greed and evil acts, features that distinguish plants and animals as ideal species.

Even as terms that are as strange as the proverbial Greek 'n' Latin are emerging and in extensive use by the literati nowadays, leaving the digitally illiterate sections feeling helpless, the term Ponzi is in a different class and may interest many to take a pot-shot at it. A Ponzi scheme is a form of fraud that lures investors and promises to pay profits to earlier investors using funds mopped up from later investors. The scheme is named after Charles Ponzi (1882-1949) who became notorious for using the conning technique as far back as 1920s. It was also previously described in novels by Charles Dickens in 1844 and 1857. If a Ponzi scheme is not stopped by authorities, the operator vanishes taking all the investment money with him.

The Ponzi deal, thick in the news world nowadays, has already left a few thousands in Karnataka robbed of their cash, putting a stop to new investors getting ensnared. They are truly patrons of the wily scheme, adding one more burdensome task to the law-keepers.

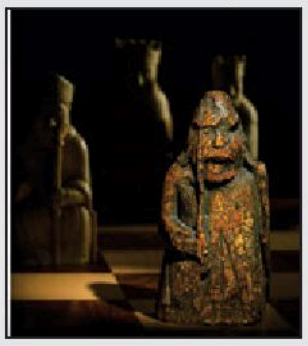
Missing piece of ancient chess set sold for £735,000

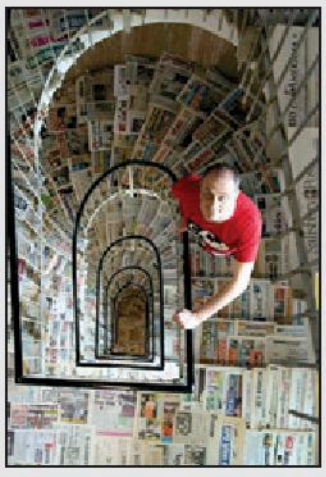


London: A piece of a famous medieval chess set that had been missing for almost 200 years was sold at auction for £735,000.

The warder - equivalent to a rook on a modern chess board - is part of a set known as the Lewis Chessmen that was made from walrus ivory in the late 12th or early 13th century.

It was bought for £5 in 1964 by an antiques dealer, and passed down through the family, who had no idea it was so special until they took it to Sotheby's auction house to be valued. Alexander Kader from Sotheby's said the warder - a man with a helmet, shield and sword - is "a little bit bashed up" and has "lost its left eye".

Newspaper collector earns Guinness record



Venice: An Italian man who has been collecting newspapers since he was only 10 years old was awarded a Guinness World Record for his collection of 1,444 different titles.

Guinness said that Sergio Bodini possesses 1,444 different newspaper titles from 115 different countries, earning the record for largest collection of newspapers - different titles.

Bodini said his collection began when he was only 10 years old and he now keeps his papers in plastic boxes in a temperature-controlled cellar.

"When I was in school we had a class project about newspapers and I fell in love with journalism. My dream was to become a sport journalist... but I eventually ended up being a chemist," Bodini said.

Really...?

- The origin of high heels can be traced back to the 10th century where the Persians wore shoes with heels on them while riding horses. The heels would help in maintaining balance while riding the horse and also while shooting arrows as they could be easily locked into the stirrups. The design of high-heeled shoes that we are familiar with today was introduced to Europe in the 17th century by the Persian embassy of Shah Abbas I. Donning high heels became a symbol of class and status and royalty like King Louis IV of France also wore them.

VOICE OF THE READER

Geologists must stop acting like Astrologers

Sir,

Apropos the report concerning the possible recurrence of excess rainfall and landslides in Kodagu this monsoon too like in 2018 (SOM dated April 25), it is unfortunate that the Geological Society of India (GSI) has come out with this untimely prediction which goes to put the easily vulnerable common man's mind placed further precariously.

Such predictions, which turn out to be wrong more often than not, only create an impression of insecurity among people and go to make them feel that the land is no more a safe place to live in.

Monsoon-2019 is well into the country. The normal monsoon would have been a "five week old" one by now. Yet, it has rained little this time in Malnad. The sun continues to shine almost every day over Kodagu, streams in our experimental watersheds have not yet touched the levels which can be measured and the agriculturists are a worried lot.

The rain gauge we (Water Resources Centre of NIE) maintain at Kudigana, a village deep inside the hill ranges of Somwarpet taluk, has recorded just 460 mm of rain this June, while its normal June rainfall is about 1,300 mm. Last year, June saw our rain gauge recording 1,809 mm. This means the GSI's predictions have gone haywire, with this June recording a deficit of nearly 65% and receiving an amount just about 25% of last year's.

However, rainfall is a stochastic phenomenon which cannot be predicted well. Even the Global Circulation Models furnish just an indication of the possible amounts. They estimate values based on too many parameters, and hence are high uncertainty-bound. Hence, any long-range prediction must be associated with confidence limits based on probability values and must be taken with a pinch of salt.

It has become a craze for Meteorologists these days to issue circulars stating exact values of the possible rain in different regions. Such 'exact' predictions utterly go wrong for obvious reasons. It is time agencies stop issuing such statements, lest they become a laughing stock and go to create misleading impressions about science among people.

According to the principles of Statistics, no magnitude of extreme events is impossible, but higher magnitudes always have a lower probability. Also, probability of extreme events occurring during two successive years is much lower. Further, predictions are associated with uncertainties which increase with the number of parameters used in the estimation. Hence, they shall not be used for warning the people, rather be used at the official level for taking proper precautionary measures.

Regarding the GSI's circular, it is a pity that the agency went to the extent of threatening the people of Kodagu and misleading the officials. The sorry state of affairs is that the GSI predicted disasters based on totally wrong concepts, which attributed April - May rainfall to factors that influence the monsoon rain.

We have records which establish that shortfalls in June are an indication of deficits (usually of a smaller magnitude) over the whole season — there are no cases of excess rain occurring succeeding a severe shortage in June. Hence, possibilities are little that a repetition of 2018 occurs this year again, bereft of the fact that according to statistics, even a one percent chance may become "true" the very next day.

The people of Kodagu live with rains and they know floods and small landslides. But it is strange that experts understand little of statistical methods — they seem to have acted like astrologers, some of whom too predicted a catastrophe this year.

This correspondent has a vast experience with the data of rainfall in Kodagu and finds no evidence of extreme rainfall getting repeated in successive years. Although it is true that "anything" can happen anytime, fears of that happening the very next month can only make life miserable. People of Kodagu are used to extreme rainfall but have lived there peacefully for centuries. Let them only be helped in need, but not be threatened.

Conserving Eco-Sensitive Western Ghats

Task Force recommends special status to eleven Districts

Bengaluru, July 4 (UNI)- Eleven districts that harbour forests of the Western Ghats from Chamarajanagar to Belagavi including Kodagu, Hassan, Shivamogga and Dharwad should get special status on the lines of Article 371(J) for Hyderabad-Karnataka. This recommendation has been made by Western Ghats Task Force in its final report submitted to the State government yesterday. The report was submitted to Forest Minister Satish Jarkiholi.

Committee Chairman Dr. Chandrashekhar suggested the State Government to declare entire Western Ghat region as a Special Zone and take measures to protect its fauna and flora. It may be recalled here that the Dr. K. Kasturirangan Committee and Madhav Gadgil Committee on Western Ghats had also recommended the Union Government to declare Western Ghats as the Ecological Sensitive Region and take measures to protect it.

Speaking after submitting his report to the Minister, Dr. S. Chandrashekhar addressing a press conference said that the Committee, which had toured the Western Ghats region extensively, also suggested not to take up any more projects of diverting west-flowing rivers to dried areas as it would damage the natural landscape which was conferred World Heritage tag by UNESCO recently.

The Committee has recommended constituting "Western Ghats Development Authority" and banning movement of all types of heavy-vehicles in the region".

It has also recommended to establish an 'Environment and Forest University' at Kudremukh, as it would help to conduct research and study to protect, conserve and develop the Western Ghats region.

The report recommended a tree census in the entire Western Ghats region with localisation of data to bring in accountability at zonal, divisional and circle offices. "Regulating the production and use of chainsaws is necessary to check the felling of the trees. Each tree fall should carry an explanation," the report said.

The Committee, which has identified 20 rivers and 180 streams flowing in the Western Ghats areas, has also recommended to the State Government to ensure flow of water throughout the year. The report recommends 33 points of action for the conservation. This includes special status that would guarantee reservations in education and employment for those residing close to forests.

"This would increase employment opportunities for tribals and forest dwellers in cities outside forests. The development pressure on the forests would subsequently decrease," said Chandrashekar.

Among the recommendations is to prohibit new projects in the Western Ghats. Currently, the State and Centre are planning a slew of road, railway, power, and river-diversion projects in the forests of the Ghats.

The report recommends the regulation of heavy earthmovers and machinery through permits and mandatory installation of GPS, revision of the sand mining policy to exclude areas in the Western Ghats, conservation of sacred groves, development of an eco-tourism policy, and establishment of elephant corridors, among others.

Forest Minister Satish Jarkiholi said the recommendations would be studied before implementation. "On the issue of special status, it will have to get the consent of the Chief Minister and the State Cabinet before it can reach the Centre," he said.

Mahseer may get 'State Fish', Honey Bee 'State Insect' tags

Bengaluru, July 4- Mahseer, the freshwater fish predominantly found in southern parts of India and now facing extinction, may soon get the 'State Fish' tag, if the government accepts the recommendation of the Western Ghats Task Force.

The Task Force said such a step would help in conserving the endangered species.

The fish, belonging to the carp family, is regarded as gold by fishermen, thanks to its high price. However, the limited spread of the fish and the high demand has pushed it closer to extinction.

The Task Force has also recommended the State Government to declare Honey Bee as the 'State Insect'. "Honey bees are special as they contribute immensely to maintain balance in ecology and they also are a means of livelihood for many. It deserves the State Insect tag."

Bee farming in the State is thriving and is a profitable industry and experts say honey bees play a crucial role in pollinating the crops.

However, due to rapid urbanisation the bees are a threatened lot in cities, while pesticides used for agriculture are a threat to them in rural areas.

All works must be completed before Dasara-2019: GTD

Stinking toilets welcome Minister; Metagalli residents have a mortuary problem

Mysuru, July 4 (RKB&NNN)- District In-Charge Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD) said that all development works will get over much ahead of the Dasara festivities. Reviewing the progress of the ongoing works, including the widening of Irwin Road yesterday, he directed the authorities to ensure that the work was completed before the curtains went up on Dasara-2019.

The Minister claimed he brought Minister for Public Works H.D. Revanna and senior bureaucrats to Mysuru recently, to ensure that public works were implemented faster.

GTD, who was on a whirlwind tour of the city since Tuesday, continued his tour yesterday at Chamaraja Constituency. He first reached BN (Bengaluru-Nilgiri) Road along with MLA L. Nagendra and other officials and saw how the iron barricades placed as medians were marring the beauty of the road.

Bengaluru-Nilgiri Road

Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Superintending Engineer Mahesh apprised the Minister about the issues and said that the iron barricades will be removed and steel medians will be installed. The open drain that runs across the road will be covered with slabs and the footpath will be elevated and converted into a walking path after the lawn is laid. GTD, on listening to the plan, immediately asked the MCC to go ahead and beautify the road.

The next issue on the road was the Taxi Stand opposite Suburban Bus Stand. The lease of the parking lot had expired but the taxis continued to park there. Devegowda asked the officials to get the place vacated but not before providing an alternate space.

Focus on Irwin Road widening

After inspecting BN Road, GTD reached Irwin Road where the much-delayed road widening is going on at a slow pace. He asked the officials to speed up the process of demolishing a portion of the historic Jumma Masjid. He directed the MCC Assistant Commissioner Geetha Udeda to discuss the issue with A.B. Ibrahim, Administrator, Karnataka State Wakf Board and come to a speedy conclusion. She told him that Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath, MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag and she had met Ibrahim in Bengaluru last week and he told the MCC that the Wakf Board does not want the compensation money but it should build similar dome structure and minarets and also provide land in some other area to compensate the loss of land. GTD told reporters that the city was growing faster and the pace of development was expected to double as Mysuru and Bengaluru are being linked with a 10-lane highway. "Bengaluru is getting saturated and there is ample scope for Mysuru to grow. Mysuru should not go the Bengaluru way. We need to emphasise on the city's growth in accordance with the foundation laid by the erstwhile Maharajas," he said.

Stinking toilets

An inspection of public lavatories at the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) Sub-Urban bus terminal shocked the Minister. It was evident that the public facility had not been cleaned for a considerably long time and sewage from a drain was allowed to flow into the lavatory.

A visibly upset Devegowda directed Mysuru DC Abhiram G. Sankar to suspend the official charged with maintaining cleanliness at the terminal, besides instructing authorities concerned to prevent sewage from flowing into the toilets.

DPR for multi-level parking

The Minister subsequently asked the officials to prepare a Detailed Project Report (DPR) for the proposed multi-level parking facility near the KSRTC Bus Stand. He also asked them to study the possibility of widening the two-lane road from Chatri Mara to Government Guest House, and developing Freedom Fighters Park on Narayana Shastri Road. "The reports for these proposals must be submitted in a week's time," Devegowda told the officials.

Drainage problems

The team then left in mini buses towards Chamaraja Double Road and also visited B.B. Keri where there are lot of drainage problems. He asked the officials concerned to immediately attend to the problem. Then the team moved towards Kumbarakoppal where the residents gathered to show the Minister the sad condition of the bus shelter. He assured them that the shelter would be demolished and a new one built in its place.

Then his attention was drawn towards the encroachment of the storm water drain and he directed Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu to take action within a week.

District Hospital nearing completion

GTD then visited the District Hospital that is being constructed at Metagalli at an estimated cost of Rs. 64 crore. District Surgeon Dr. B. Basavaraj explained about various features of the building and said that the construction will be completed within a month.

He also asked for the vacant land where an industry was located earlier to be handed over to them. The Minister directed the officials to look into the matter and see whether the land could be handed over.

Mortuary problem

Meanwhile, the residents of Loknayaknagar in Metagalli, mostly women met GTD and demanded that the mortuary that had been built inside the Hospital premises be shifted as there were children and elders who would be affected by the mortuary. Devegowda promised to see that he would try his best to attend to their plea and get the mortuary shifted to the other side of the hospital.

Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath, MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaj, Superintending Engineer B.K. Suresh Babu, Corporators M.U. Subbaiah, Lakshmi Shivanna, SBM Manju, former Mayor M.J. Ravikumar and others accompanied GTD.

Davanagere girl among 7 persons missing from city, Kadakola

Mysuru, July 4 (KS) - In separate cases, a girl from Davangere, a woman and her three daughters and two boys have gone missing from city and Kadakola.

In the first case, 22-year-old Asha, who had come to Chamundi Hill along with her family from Davangere on July 2, has gone missing.

According to the complaint lodged by her father Mallesh with K.R. Police, Asha was sitting outside the temple as she was suffering from stomach ache while the other family members went inside to have the darshan of Goddess Chamundeshwari and by the time they came out, Asha had gone missing.

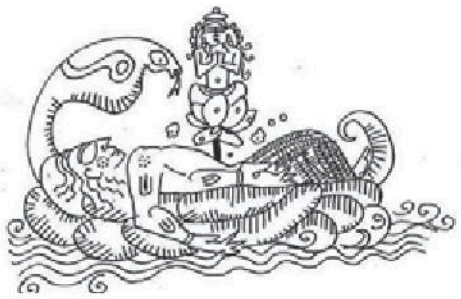
Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

What came first: The world or life?



As per scientists, the world began 13 billion years ago with the Big Bang. Earth came into being about 5 billion years ago. And about 4 billion years ago, life emerged on Earth. What we mean by 'life' is the appearance of sentience, the appearance of organisms, who can 'sense' the world around them. In other words, the appearance of a mind. So, from a scientific point of view, matter comes first, then mind; the world comes first, then life; the world of Physics precedes the world of Biology.

In Puranic metaphor, mind is male and matter is female. The world begins when Vishnu 'wakes' up. Thus, creation does not mean the creation of material world, but the awareness of the material world by the mind. This Hindu story of creation is very different from the Biblical concept of creation, in which God creates the world in six days, with life on the third day. Creation in Hinduism is psychological, not physical; it is about awareness of matter, not appearance of matter.

The earliest organisms to appear are focused on survival and do not 'see' the world as it is, but only as opportunity (food, mate) or as threat (predator, rival). Even plants and animals do not reflect on the nature of world. This starts only with humans. In Hindu mythology, this is explained as Brahma emerging from the lotus flower, frightened, lonely, unable to make sense of the world.

He 'sees' a woman, who he claims to be his creation, so his daughter, and seeks to possess and control her, an act for which he is beheaded by Shiva. Brahma's desire thus sets forth in motion the cycle of life: he becomes Creator, and Shiva, who stops his desire, becomes Destroyer. This again is not creation or destruction of the world, but creation and destruction of 'desire' or 'hunger', the forces that propel life. Brahma creates life, not world, by submitting to desire; Shiva destroys life by destroying desire. Brahma is Bhogi, Shiva is Yogi.

Vishnu is Preserver. From his navel rises the lotus that gives birth to Brahma. He understands Brahma's ignorance. He maintains life by restraining Brahma's desire as well as Shiva's rejection of desire. If Brahma is a householder who seeks a wife, and Shiva is hermit who rejects marriage, then Vishnu is the hermit-householder, living in a household without getting attached to anything. Again, this is a psychological state, not physical.

The Goddess embodies the physical side of the universe. She is matter. She is the world that exists before life comes and even after life goes. In other words, she exists before Vishnu wakes up and even after Vishnu goes to sleep. She is mother from whose womb life is created and daughter who is created in the mind of humans. As mother she is objective reality; as daughter she is subjective reality. Thus, Brahma's incest is not to be taken literally; it is a metaphor for our attachment to the world we imagine.

This complexity of Hindu Puranas was dismissed as gobbledegook by colonial translators in the 19th century. Hindus also could not explain the metaphorical nature of their scriptures, why metaphor (rupak in Hindi) is needed for mind and all things psychological that has no form (rupa in Hindi). For Orientalists, the natives of India were too inferior to think in metaphorical terms, a contemptuous attitude seen even today among scientists, who dismiss knowledge systems of traditional and tribal societies. Our ego stops us from appreciating other people's language. We behave as Brahma, assuming the Goddess is our dominion, and that is a tragedy.

Justice, Sri Rama-Style !

By N.K.A. Ballal,
Retd. Sr. Vice-President, ITDC

Ballal

This is a rarely told story of an incident in Ramayana, as narrated by Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev. The story of a dog demanding Justice. Do take it with a pinch of salt, since in this story dogs could talk and demand justice! But the underlying message was something which I liked and thought I should share it with Star of Mysore readers.

Sri Rama was known to be a just and caring King. Everyday, he would sit patiently and hear the woes of all people who came to him for justice. One day, as the day came to an end, he told his brother, "Go and see if there is anybody else waiting for a hearing." His brother Laxman went out, looked around, found nobody and came back and said, "there is nobody. We can call it a day." Sri Rama again asked him to go and have a re-look. Laxman was surprised, but still went and found no one. As he was turning back, he saw a dog, sitting with a sad face, badly injured on the head waiting patiently near the door of the Palace. The dog said, "I want justice. I have been beaten up for no reason."

Laxman took the dog inside the court. The dog told, "Oh Rama, I want justice. For no reason, an act of violence has been committed on me. A man called Sidda, a beggar, hit me on my head without any provocation." King Rama called his courtiers and asked them to summon the beggar, Sidda, who admitted that he had indeed hit the dog in a rage, as he was hungry and unable to get some food and the dog was sitting in his way. He said, "I am guilty. Whatever punishment you deem fit you may give me."

Rama turned around and asked his Ministers, "What is the punishment you feel must be given to this beggar." They all thought for some time and replied "all the laws applicable in this State are only for human beings. This is a complicated case, where a human being and a dog are involved. How can we give any judgement with no law covering this. However, being the King, it is your right to give the judgement." Rama asked the dog, "Do you have any suggestion? What kind of punishment do you have in mind?" The dog replied, "Yes, I have an appropriate punishment. Make him the chief monk of Kalinga monastery." King Rama said, "so be it." The beggar was immediately appointed as the chief of the monastery, a celebrated post of the State. Sri Rama gave an elephant. The beggar sat on the elephant and went to the monastery very happy. The court was astonished and the Minister asked Rama, "What kind of justice is this ? A man accused of violence has been appointed a chief of a monastery and he has gone to his post in such a joy."

Sri Rama quietly asked the dog to explain. The dog explained, "In my previous birth, I was the chief monk of the same monastery. I was appointed there since I was truly dedicated to spiritual well-being and wanted to impart my knowledge to all who came to the monastery. I did my best. But as days passed by, other impressions in my mind overtook me, the name and fame which came along with the post overwhelmed me and I became egoistic and arrogant. I started enjoying the perks which came along the post of the chief. People would treat me like a holy man and I started to think that I am a God within myself. I knew I was not one but started to demand luxuries befitting a God. Slowly my spiritual commitment receded, I tried several times to fix the problem but could not. I lost myself and that is the reason I am now reborn as a dog. This Sidda, who has now become the head of the monastery, has terrible anger so I know he will punish himself as I did in my last janma and will be reborn as a dog. This is the best punishment for him. Let him be the chief monk of that monastery and enjoy the luxuries for some time."

When I heard the story for the first time I had several questions: Why did Rama ask the dog to give justice? Did he know all along that he was the chief monk of Kalinga in the previous janma, who could give a proper verdict ? Was it proper to send an illiterate beggar for such a high post, which required spiritual bent of mind? Did he know in advance that the dog would give that judgement? So many questions, for which there are no answers.

However, the moral of the story is: When one is given a high post, do not misuse the post. You may be in that post because of your religion, education, hard work etc., but to think that you are permanent is a futile exercise. Our country is full of hundreds of fake Swamis who profess themselves to be Gods themselves, live luxurious lives, drive around in luxury cars too. But ultimately die a normal death like any other human beings.

Peter's principle, every man or woman reaches his or her level of incompetence, at some levels in his life. So sometimes a promotion is also a punishment. I have seen excellent departmental heads fail as CEOs. They are so much used to taking decisions based on instructions they receive, they just do not know how to give instructions ! [I guess Sachin Tendulkar failed as a Captain for the same reason! —Editor]

Many a companies and parties do this, Justice Rama-style. It is calling kicking upstairs. They give them grand titles. Call them as Chairmen-Emeritus, Mentors etc., give them all perks, salaries with no power !

GTD holds Janaspandana

A majority of the complaints were of MUDA Khata transfer, site registration, title deed and plan approval. People complained that they have to run from pillar to post for obtaining any of the said documents and MUDA officials do not respond properly. Another major grievance was from people who have been waiting for a MUDA site since many years. Several of the complainants were senior citizens and physically challenged. They alleged that MUDA was failing in its duty of making new layouts while private layout makers are far ahead of MUDA in creating new layouts.

Barrage of complaints against MCC

A barrage of complaints was against the MCC and most of them came from the residents of newly-formed layouts by MUDA and handed over to the MCC for maintenance. Residents complained that the MCC was not issuing Khatas though the sites have been allotted by MUDA. They alleged that the MCC was asking them to produce all the documents all over again to the MCC for getting the Khata.

Intervening in such complaints, GTD asked officials to make the process smoother. When the layout residents have got the sites from MUDA, there is no need for them to produce documents all over again to obtain Khata, he said.

There were several complaints on illegal occupation of footpaths, culverts, Raja Kaluves and even public roads. Waste clearance from new layouts, stinking dustbins at many street corners, irregular water supply, defunct borewells and garbage disposal at Vidyaranyapuram were other complaints. Receiving such applications, GTD directed officials to clear encroachments on priority. Several physically challenged people applied for sites and shops for their livelihood.

Why plastic bottles, asks lady

A lady came up to the Minister and asked him why he was drinking water from plastic bottle and plastic glass when the MCC had enforced plastic ban in entire city. GTD and the officials surrounding him could not answer the lady who chided them for sending a wrong message to the society. The lady was, however, pacified by the officials who promised that plastic will be replaced by steel jugs in the next such meeting.

Many people demanded the District Administration to strictly enforce the ban on Plaster of Paris (PoP) Ganesha this year. Complaints were also filed on street dogs and monkey menace.

Well-planned arrangements

The District Administration had planned the Janaspandana event well and over 30 counters were set up comprising various departments.

Applicants were directed to the respective counters where applications were accepted and acknowledgements were given. Later, they had to wait in the queue till their names are called.

Officials were seated along with computers for speedy redressal of the complaints and note down instructions from the Minister. Facilities including drinking water, two mobile toilets and food facility to the crowd were arranged. Despite all these arrangements, there was a heavy rush where GTD and other VIPs sat and people competed with each other to meet the minister.

Krishnaraja MLA S.A. Ramdas, Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra, MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaj, MCC and MUDA Section Officers, MUDA Secretary Savitha, former MLA Vasu, Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath, Deputy Mayor Shafi Ahmed, DC Abhiram G. Sankar, MUDA Commissioner H.N. Vijay, ZP CEO K. Jyothi, Karnataka Exhibition Authority Chairman Abdul Azeez, City Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna, SP Ryshyanth and other officers were present.

Nirmala Sitharaman to present Union Budget tomorrow

New Delhi, July 4- India's first female Finance Minister in almost five decades, Nirmala Sitharaman, who has held a wide range of jobs including Defence Minister, will present India's full-year budget for the next fiscal (2019-20) in Parliament tomorrow morning at a time when she is under pressure to spend more to reinvigorate the economy.

Nirmala Sitharaman

Fifty-nine-year-old Sitharaman faces what might become one of the toughest balancing acts of her career. She must find resources for welfare programmes announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's government, including Rs. 87,000 crore for a new measure to support farmers. And, she must do all that while keeping the national deficit below 3.4% of GDP, a target credit rating companies are watching closely.

A day before the Union Budget is presented, Nirmala Sitharaman this morning tabled the Economic Survey 2018-19, prepared by Chief Economic Adviser Krishnamurthy Subramanian, in the Parliament. The Economic Survey projects the state of health of the Indian economy and outlines the challenges.

The Indian economy is at a 5-year low of 6.8% in 2018-19 and the fourth quarter growth has slumped to 5.8% which is a 17-quarter low. The Economic Survey argues for an ambitious agenda for social change, treating humans as humans, relying on the lessons offered by behavioural economics.

"The theme of the survey - 'Shifting Gears' - is intended to achieve a sustained growth rate of 8 per cent. Using the learning from the Global Financial Crisis, the Survey departs from traditional thinking to view the economy in either a vicious or a virtuous cycle," said Subramanian.

"The Survey makes a sincere effort to live up to the expectation of being an indispensable guide for following, understanding and thinking about the Indian economy," he added.

New State JD-S President

H.K. Kumaraswamy, MLA from Sakleshpur (SC reserved), succeeded Hunsur MLA A.H. Vishwanath, who recently resigned from the post. Kumaraswamy is a six-time MLA from Hassan district.

Meanwhile, former MLA Madhu Bangarappa, who was Party's Youth President, was replaced by Nikhil Kumaraswamy and today appointed as Working President.

It may be recalled, Nikhil had suffered a humiliating defeat at the hands of independent Sumalatha Ambarish in Mandya while Madhu Bangarappa lost to B.Y. Raghavendra of the BJP from Shivamogga seat in the recent Lok Sabha elections.

Tree fall chokes traffic at V.V. Mohalla

A tree branch fell on the road near 4th Main Road at V.V. Mohalla, opposite Loyal World at about 9 am today causing massive traffic jam on the busy road. As it was peak hour traffic, buses, cars, bikes and other vehicles were stranded for a long time. Though the V.V. Puram Traffic Station is a stone's throw away from the place where the tree fell, no step was taken to either smoothen the traffic flow or to clear the tree branch. Vehicles were blocked for a long time and worse, the adjacent roads too were choked. Later, traffic Police arrived at the scene and made efforts to clear the tree along with Mysuru City Corporation staff. Traffic flow was restored later.

ICC World Cup 2019

Bairstow, Wood put England in semi-finals

Chester-le-Street, July 4- Hosts England made it to the semi-finals with a convincing 119-run win over New Zealand in the ICC World Cup 2019 match played at Chester-le-Street on Wednesday.

Jonny Bairstow's century was the highlight of the England innings before the bowlers took over to bowl out New Zealand and ensure that they make it to the semi-finals.

England are making it to the World Cup semi-finals for the first time since 1992. It was Williamson's exit, run out by a deflection when backing up that more or less put the crowd at Chester-le-Street into a celebratory mode. Given that Pakistan will need to win by an impossibly vast margin over Bangladesh to pass them, New Zealand have some time to re-think and come back strongly.

Good start by England's openers

Winning the toss and electing to bat, England's openers Jason Roy 60 (61b, 8x4) and Jonny Bairstow 106 (99b, 15x4) gave them a good start by adding 123-runs in 18.4 overs, before Jason Roy departed caught by Santner off Neesham.

Bairstow's innings was his second century in as many World Cup innings and third in three against New Zealand. He cover drove and pulled with poise and added 71-runs for the second wicket with Joe Root (24).

New Zealand's bowlers spearheaded by Trent Boult (two for 56) came back strongly, by striking in intervals and restricted England to 305 for eight in 50 overs. Skipper Eoin Morgan 42 (40b, 5x4) was the only other useful contributor. Matt Henry (two for 54) and James Neesham (two for 41) were the other wicket-takers for New Zealand.

New Zealand's batsmen falter

The Kiwis started badly losing opener Henry Nicholls (0) early and were two for one in the fifth ball of their innings. Martin Guptill (8) departed soon caught brilliantly behind the wicket by Jos Buttler off Jofra Archer and New Zealand were struggling at 14 for two in 5.2 overs.

Skipper Kane Williamson (27, 40b, 3x4) and Ross Taylor (28) added 47-runs for the third wicket, before the Kiwi skipper was run out (61 for three in 15.1 overs).

Ross Taylor was run-out going for a non-existent second run. Latham 57 (65b, 5x4) and Neesham 19(27b, 1x4) added 54-runs for the fifth wicket, but after the fall of Neesham's wicket, there was no resistance from the New Zealand's remaining batsmen and wickets tumbled at regular intervals. New Zealand were bowled out for 186 in 45 overs. England won the match by 119-runs.

Mark Wood impressed for England by taking three for 34. Jonny Bairstow was chosen as the Player of the Match.

Three sides — Australia, India and England — have made it to the semi-finals and the fourth team New Zealand is all but locked and loaded unless something extra-ordinary happens on Friday.

For Pakistan to qualify they need to beat Bangladesh by 311 runs after scoring 350. Beat Bangladesh by 316 runs after scoring 400, beat Bangladesh by 321 runs after scoring 450. If Bangladesh opt to bat first on Friday, Pakistan stand eliminated even before a ball is bowled.

Bengaluru man accused of threatening former Corporator arrested

Released on Station Bail

The arrested man is Mohammed Hassan Razak, a supporter of Syed Mujahid, an associate of Mansoor Ahmed, who is the prime accused in the multi-crore IMA scam.

Based on the complaint, Mandi Police, who registered a case, left for Bengaluru and arrested Hassan Razak. He (Hassan) was brought to Mandi Police Station yesterday and was interrogated. Hassan was later released on Station Bail, said Mandi Inspector Arun Kumar.

Meanwhile, Suhail Baig and his supporters, who came to the Police Station after the accused was brought there, lauded Mandi Police for taking action swiftly and urged the Police to take action against Syed Mujahid.

Mysuru, July 4 (SBD&KS)- The Third Additional CJM Court has sentenced a man to two years jail for cheating a person in the guise of providing a medical seat.

The accused is 43-year-old Ashok G. Olekar, a resident of Ramakrishnanagar 'I' Block in city.

Olekar, in 2002, had told Dr. Ananthanathan, that he knew a few persons at CET Cell and he would get his (Dr. Ananthanathan) daughter a seat at a medical college through CET rank for which Rs. 3.5 lakh was needed. Believing him, Dr. Ananthanathan had given him Rs. 1.25 lakh cash and had issued a bank cheque for Rs. 2.25 lakh.

As his daughter's name did not appear in the CET list, Dr. Ananthanathan, requested the bank not to honour the cheque he had issued to Olekar and had lodged a complaint with the Court.

Following the order from the Court, Kuvempunagar Police had registered a case and the then Investigation Officers Mallesh and S.D. Ramakrishna had submitted a charge-sheet against accused Olekar to the Court.

Judge Sunil M. Hosamani, who heard the arguments from both sides found the accused guilty of the crime and sentenced him to two years imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 5,000. Public Prosecutor C.B. Girish, argued on behalf of the government.

Mysuru, July 4 (PM&DM)- Railway employees under the banner of South Western Railway Mazdoor Union (Hubballi), launched a 4-day Black Day protest, opposing Railway privatisation moves in front of the City Railway Station here on Wednesday.

The protest is part of the week-long nationwide demonstration called by the Railway Union. Alleging that the Union Government is privatising the Modern Rail Coach factory at Raebareli in UP and is also conspiring to privatise six other units, the employees accused the government of privatising the Railways in phases in order to avoid opposition.

Maintaining that the move to privatise Railway units is a unilateral one, they said that they will resist any such move with strong opposition.

Claiming that privatisation will hurt the country, the protestors urged the Centre to drop such moves in the interests of passengers and general public. Union office-bearers R.R. Naik, C. Shivakumar, P. Shivaprakash, Dr. A.M. D'Curz, S. Somashekar, K. Gururaj and others took part in the protest.

Cleaning drive at Triveni Sangama

T. Narasipur, July 4- As part of the Swachh campaign, various organisations conducted a cleanliness drive at Triveni Sangama recently.

Bengaluru's Poorna Pramathi School, T. Narasipur Town Municipal Council (TMC), Youth Brigade, Sriveeranjaneya Dharma Jagriti Balaga and Jwalamuki Group members jointly conducted the cleaning of the Cauvery, Kabini and Spatika Rivers that flow through the middle of the Town's Sri Gunja Narasimhaswamy and Agasthyeshwara Temple.

Poorna Pramathi School Principal Shashi Rekha speaking on the occasion, warned that if we do not preserve our rivers which are our lifelines and maintain their cleanliness, everyone has to struggle for water in the coming days.

By involving the students in the cleanliness campaign, awareness about the importance of rivers was being created, she added.

TMC Executive Officer R. Ashok, Health Officer Chetan Kumar, Mahendra, teachers of Poorna Pramithi School, parents and association members participated in the cleanliness drive.

Jumping Spiders are unique: Expert

Mysuru, July 4 (YDS&DM)- Stating that India has special and rare species of spiders, said Prof. Wayne Maddison, Professor and Canada Research Chair at the Department of Zoology and Botany, University of British Columbia. He stressed on the need for taking measures to conserve them as they were unique.

He was delivering a talk on 'The music of evolution: Exploring the diversity of jumping spiders,' organised by Team Saaliga in association with Mysore Nature and Arivu Nature Resource Centre at Regional Museum of Natural History (RMNH) at Siddarthanagar in the city yesterday.

Pointing out that spiders are wonderful creatures whose varied and complex range of behaviour and highly developed sensory systems are excellently adopted to the environmental conditions, Prof. Maddison said that his research arose from a fascination for the diversity of forms and behaviour of Jumping Spiders.

Noting that his work continues to be both empirical and theoretical on the use of phylogeny in evolutionary inference of spiders, he said that there are thousands of species of Jumping Spiders, exhibiting different colours, body forms, ecological interactions and behaviours, each being a unique product of its evolutionary history.

Emphasising on the need for a proper understanding of the general mechanisms of evolution, the Canadian Professor opined that it was important to communicate the beauty of biodiversity to the public and the policy makers.

Underlining the need for caring for our planet, Prof. Maddison said that Museums such as RMNH were important for the present and future generations to understand the need for preserving our biodiversity and for documenting research on wonderful creatures such as spiders.

WORD OF THE DAY

Mea culpa

Pronunciation: may-uh-KOOL-puh.
Meaning: A formal acknowledgment of personal fault or error.
Origin: Mea culpa, which means "through my fault" in Latin, comes from a prayer of confession in the Catholic Church. Said by itself, it's an exclamation of apology or remorse that is used to mean "It was my fault" or "I apologise." Mea culpa is also a noun, however. A newspaper might issue a mea culpa for printing inaccurate information, or a politician might give a speech making mea culpas for past wrongdoings. Mea culpa is one of many English terms that derive from the Latin culpa, meaning "guilt." Some other examples are culpable ("meriting condemnation or blame especially as wrong or harmful"), culprit ("one guilty of a crime or a fault"), and exculpate ("to clear from alleged fault or guilt").
Example: "The internal investigation ended with a mea culpa from the sheriff's department and a reprimand and reassignment for a deputy overseeing the property room." — Allie Morris, The Houston Chronicle, 15 Nov. 2018.

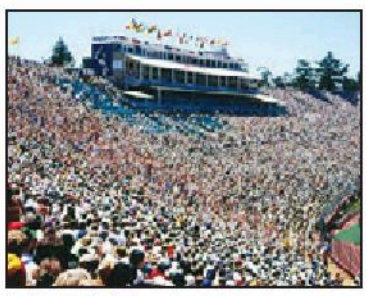
PHRASE OF THE DAY

A Mexican wave



Meaning: A wave effect formed when crowds in stadia rise up and down from their seats in succession.
Origin: Given that name when the phenomenon came to a mass audience during the football World Cup held in Mexico in 1986. It had originated somewhat earlier, probably in US colleges. This piece from The New York Times, October 1984, pre-dates the football tournament: "This undulating human wave ... apparently became popular at University of Washington football games a few years ago." That 'apparently' indicates that the New York Times had no proof. Nevertheless, there are strong representations from supporters of that view, who claim 'The Wave' was first performed on October 31, 1981 at an American football game at the University of Washington's Husky Stadium.
The action itself, whatever those involved at the time called it, certainly pre-dates 1981. In the Fred MacMurray comedy film Son of Flubber, 1963, the crowd at an American football game can clearly be seen to enact what we would now call a 'Mexican Wave'.
